JOHN BEATTY. Ireland is in the most desperate condition, from disease and famine among the people. It is evralia, and to any who may be traversing, at that en worse than the memorable famine of 1847.-France is occupied with the election of a Legislative Assembly; if it turns out in favor of the monarchists they will probably try to overturn the Republic. The French Government have sent an army to restore the Pope to Rome and put down the Republic.—Germany is no better off than at our last. The war with Denmark is still waged-the Danes having been beaten thus far. The King of Prussia was chosen Emperor by the Assembly at Frankfort, and refused.— This occasioned an outbreak at Berlin, and several persons were killed. In other of the German Kingdoms, the question of organizing the Confederation, according to the Frankfort Constitution, is producing much excitement. The King of Wurtemberg refused to submit to it, but his people rose and forced him to give in The Germans are bent on naving the confederacy, and if the Kings object they will be sent packing. In Hungary the Austrians have been heaten and driven from the country, and have called in the aid of the Russians to help them save their own country and put down the Hungarians.—Italy has seen the defeat of the liberal and republican cause. Charles Albert, King of Sardinia, being vanquished by the Austrians in a great battle, abdicated, and his successor has made peace, at the same time putting down some attempts at re-volt among his own subjects. The Grand Duke of Tuscany has been restored to Florence, whence he was driven, after which a Republic vas proclaimed there. The Pope will soon be restored by the French, who, at the last advices, had entered Rome. They will require him to guarantee liberal institutions to his people. Venice still holds out, and is blockaded by the Austrians. Sicily has been subdued by the tyrant of Naples, after hard fighting and much slaughter. In Spain the Carlists have been beaten. Portugal is not far from bankropt. In India the English have flogged the Sikhs, and will take defi
